Description

French Expressionist Mid Century Modern View of Paris on the Seine, bridge

Very much influenced by the work of Bernard Buffet this is a very decorative example of French city paintings from the 1950's through the 1960s.

The painting came from a private collection of mid-century modern art and furniture in America.

This piece is framed in its original frame and is in good original condition.

The artist painted city scenes often with rivers, buildings, and boats always with a limited color palette which gives the paintings a modern striking look.
