Description

Impressionist mid-century still life of flowers in a vase, with poppies.

This is an oil on canvas and is framed in a vintage English frame.

The artist was also a restorer and maybe more famous as running a studio of forgers in London, as well as being a respected painter.

His most famous pupil was Eric Hebborn who became a world-famous forger.

His work is thought to be in many museums as the art of some of the world's greatest artists..!!

This piece was exhibited at the prestigious Koester gallery Switzerland in 1974
