Antique oil on canvas, English beach scene, with sand dunes and people walking

Daniel Sherrin

$2,360

David Brooker Fine Art
UK: +44 (0)7870 851 498 • US +1 203 232 2807
info@davidbrooker.com • www.davidbrooker.com

REF: 2352

Height: 61 cm (24")

David Brooker Fine Art
UK: +44 (0)7870 851 498 • US +1 203 232 2807
info@davidbrooker.com • www.davidbrooker.com

Width: 81 cm (31.9")

Description

Well-painted English early 20th-century beach scene landscape
Daniel Sherrin 1868-1940 signed L. Richards This is a framed original oil painting on canvas by the late British painter Daniel Sherrin who painted under the pseudonym of L Richards.
It is signed and was painted circa 1910 and is in excellent condition.
BIOGRAPHY Daniel Sherrin (1868-1940) Daniel Sherrin was the son of John Sherrin, and the father of R.D. Sherrin who was also artists (a picture by the latter is shown elsewhere on Prolific artist painting Landscapes and beach landscapes. Flourished c1895-1915. This may be a pseudonym for the well-listed artist Benjamin Williams Leader. Sherrin was born in Brentford, Essex, and moved to Ramsgate when he was a boy. Later he lived in Seasalter near Whitstable where he died. Initially he apparently primarily painted seascapes, but later turned mainly to landscapes. His paintings were sometimes used for book illustrations and engravings and a scene entitled 'In the Highlands' can be seen in 'British Highways and Byways from a Motor Car' by Thomas D. Murphy published in 1908. A picture of Sandringham was commissioned from him by King George V and hangs in Buckingham Palace. The Imperial War Museum in London also have material related to his work on the design of recruiting posters for the First World War
The painting has been framed in a new English handmade gold frame.
See Jeremy Woods, 'Hidden Talents' for a bio on Dan Sherrin, aka L.Richards

David Brooker Fine Art
UK: +44 (0)7870 851 498 • US +1 203 232 2807
info@davidbrooker.com • www.davidbrooker.com