Description

English 19th century River landscape farmers harvesting the hay in an English Summer.

A stunning late 19th/early 20th-century oil painting by the highly collected English School landscape painter, Sidney Yates Johnson. This is an excellent example of the artist's oeuvre, being an early example of his work.

Johnson was a prolific painter of landscapes from Circa 1890 to 1926. Many of his works are classic Victorian English landscapes. His early work is similar to that of Henry H parker and the later work of John Horrace Hooper.

The balance of light and color gives this piece a wonderful feel, with the addition of a well-chosen new hand made English giltwood frame.

The perfect piece for a dining room, den, study, hallway, entrance, or just about any room in a home or office.
