Description

Joaquín Torrents Lladó (Badalona 1946-Palma 1993) first traveled to Mallorca in the summer of 1967. A year later, he moved into Valldemossa, where he cultivated his three interests: stage design, painting and theatre. Then he moved to the center of Palma, alternating his sojourns in the Balearics with trips to Madrid, Stockholm, Florida or Venice, a city about which he was truly passionate. This piece was exhibited in Monaco in 1981-2. This exhibition was opened by Princess Caroline of Monaco which was a great honor .
